

Having vacationed in Jamaica for the last six years at five star resorts during February and March, it was truly eye-opening to discover that the hidden treasures of the Caribbean are actually land-locked at Toscana at Desert Ridge in Arizona. Move over Florida; as the actual sun-shine state would appear to be Arizona.

Resort living is personified at Toscana. The management and staff truly understand service and excellence. The grounds are impeccably maintained from the lush landscaping to the gyms and recreational areas. Fire-pits light up the evening skies as you fire up the numerous bar-b-q pits and share recipes with friendly neighbours. Wendy, Steve, Brett, Sarah, Julia, Daniel, Scott and Don are there to ensure your stay is as advertised and to say that they are sensitive to your needs would be an understatement.

Concierge service is unparalleled and Steve is always more than happy to arrange that special event reservation or book a tee time at the numerous golf courses surrounding Toscana. He is constantly adding merchants to the VIP list providing guests with impressive discounts at neighbouring restaurants and shops.

If you are looking to purchase, you are in good hands with Allison or Julie who are located in the sales office. If you choose to rent, Karen can match you with a condo suited to your requirements.

We made many new friends at the many events organized by Brett and his team. Friday night cocktails provide an opportunity to meet your neighbours and the many social activities ensure an active stay, including Poker night each Wednesday, a particular favourite of ours.

Wendy welcomes you upon arrival and provides everything you need to know concerning the premises, including the impressive VIP card.

The only disappointment was that we had only booked four months but we have rectified that problem for next winter.

A special thanks to all who made our stay memorable.
